WHERE’S THE ACCOUNTABILITY TO ADOLESCENTS?

Multi-Stakeholder Consultation
on the occasion of the World Health Assembly

25 May 2017

The Secretary-General’s Independent Accountability Panel (IAP)

Please join us in this dynamic exchange and dialogue among senior representatives of government, the United Nations System, civil society, youth leaders, global funds and philanthropy. As the IAP prepares its 2017 Report on the theme of adolescents and accountability, we wish to hear from you—your experience and expertise, your insights and recommendations to unlock challenges and seek solutions.

- What meaningful accountability systems are emerging, with and for adolescents, in decision-making processes, policies and programmes about their health and human rights?
- Who is being left behind, and what are the critical accountability gaps in need of intensified policy attention and investments?
- What course can we take to improve our institutional and collective accountabilities to women’s, children’s and adolescents’ health?

Welcoming Remarks & Facilitators (10 minutes)

IAP Co-Chairs Carmen Barroso (Brazil) and Kul Gautam (Nepal)

Interactive Dialogue - Participants’ Comments (est. 3 minutes each)
